Let's start with the basics!

Before diving into the beauties and complexities of the Quran, it is beneficial to learn the most fundamental terms. Inshallah, this will ease your understanding.

What does the word "Quran" mean? The word Quran means "recitation" in Arabic. It is derived from the verb qara'a—"to read," "to recite" What language is the Quran? The Quran was revealed in Arabic and is best understood in its original and only form. However, Islam is a global religion with believers of many ethnicities. The Quran has been translated into many different languages, and each translation brings its own interpretation of the original Arabic text. How did we receive the Quran? Muslims believe the Quran is the word of Allah, revealed to the Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him) over 23 years through the Angel Jibreel (Gabriel). Why is it important to read the Quran? The Quran is the central text for Muslims. It explains the laws and commandments of Islam and serves as a guide for our moral and social behaviour.

Structure of the Quran

Surahs

The Quran consists of 114 chapters (Surahs), which vary in length. The longest chapter is Surah Al-Baqarah (The Cow, 286 verses), and the shortest is Surah Al-Kawthar (Abundance, 3 verses). Each chapter has a specific name, often reflecting a significant topic or symbol mentioned in it (e.g., Surah Al-Nasr—Victory, Surah Al-Ikhlās—Purity).

Ayahs

The Quran has over 6,000 verses, often referred to as Ayahs. An Ayah can be a few words or a full sentence and is a complete statement, like a verse in poetry.

Sections

The Quran is divided into 30 equal parts called Juz' (plural: Ajza'). This division helps Muslims read the Quran over one month, especially during Ramadan.

Order

The chapters are not in chronological order of revelation. Instead, they were arranged as per divine guidance given to the Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him). The Quran starts with Surah Al-Fatiha (The Opening) and progresses, with shorter chapters generally placed towards the end.

Observing Proper Etiquette

The Quran holds a special place in the life of a Muslim, and observing proper etiquette when handling and engaging with it is essential.

Perform Wudu Muslims are encouraged to perform wudu (ritual purification) before touching the Quran, based on the verse: “None touch it except the purified” (Quran 56:79). Digital versions of the Quran, such as apps, may not require wudu, but treating the text with respect is still recommended.

Hold the Quran Respectfully: Use both hands to hold it, and avoid placing it on the floor or in a place where it might get dirty. When putting it down, use a clean surface like a table or stand.

Be Focused and Attentive: Read with full concentration, understanding, and humility. Avoid eating, drinking, or engaging in side conversations while reciting.

Keep It in a Clean Place: Store the Quran in a clean, elevated space. Avoid placing anything on top of it.

Dua for Guidance: Before reading, make a dua (supplication) asking Allah (SWT) for understanding and wisdom.

Let's Prepare to Read

05

Purify Your Intention

01

Begin with the intention to read the Quran to seek guidance, knowledge, and a closer relationship with Allah. Remember that it's not about speed or quantity but about understanding and applying its teachings.

Begin With Bismillah

02

Before opening the Quran, say: "Bismillah-ir-Rahman-ir-Raheem" (In the name of Allah, the Most Merciful, the Most Compassionate).

Start With the Basics

03

Surah Al-Fatiha (The Opening): Begin with the first and most recited surah of the Quran, Surah Al Fatiha. This surah is significant because it provides the foundation for Muslim prayer and is often the first portion of the Quran that is memorized by children and reverts.

Short Chapters at the End: Start with the shorter Surahs (e.g., Surah Al-Ikhlās, Surah Al-Falaq, Surah An-Nas). These are easier to read, memorize, and understand.

04

Don't feel overwhelmed!

The Quran can seem overwhelming at the start. However, once you begin reading you will not be able to stop. It just makes sense.

How to approach the Quran

A. Choose a Surah (e.g., Surah Al-Ikhlās) Read its translation in your preferred language : Reflect on the message of Allah's Oneness. B. Listen to a Recitation Follow along as you read to ensure you do not miss anything. C. Break Down Each Verse Verse 1: Say, "He is Allah, [who is] One." Reflect: Allah (SWT) is unique, without partners. D. Take Notes Write whatever comes to your mind: thoughts, questions, ideas, concepts for more research

Break it down verse by verse

Begin with Surah Al-Fatiha. It is called "The Opening" because it opens the Quran and every unit of prayer. This is typically the first surah that reverts learn.

Verse 1: "Bismillah-ir-Rahman-ir-Raheem"

(In the name of Allah, the Most Gracious, the Most Merciful)

- Begin by saying "Bismillah" before reciting anything to invoke Allah's blessings.

Verse 2: "Alhamdulillahi Rabbil 'Aalameen"

(All praise and thanks are for Allah, the Lord of all worlds.)

- Reflect on Allah's greatness and provision for all of creation.

Verse 3: "Ar-Rahman-ir-Raheem"

(The Most Gracious, the Most Merciful.)

- Think about Allah's infinite mercy toward His creation.

Verse 4: "Maaliki Yawmid-Deen"

(Master of the Day of Judgment.)

- Contemplate accountability and Allah's ultimate authority.

Verse 5: "Iyyaka Na'budu Wa Iyyaka Nasta'een"

(You alone we worship, and You alone we ask for help.)

- Reaffirm your dedication to Allah (SWT) and reliance on Him alone.

Verse 6-7: "Ihdinas-Siraatal-Mustaqeem. "Siraatal-Ladheena An'amta 'Alaihim; Ghayril-MaghdooBi 'Alaihim Walad-Daalleen"

(Guide us on the Straight Path.) (The path of those You have blessed, not those who have earned Your anger, nor those who go astray.)

- Ask Allah (SWT) for steadfastness and to follow the examples of the righteous.

Take time to understand and reflect

08

Reflect on how each verse applies to your life, such as praising Allah (SWT) for your blessings or seeking His guidance during difficulties.

Pause after each verse and think about its message. Ask yourself:

- What is Allah (SWT) teaching me in this verse? How can I apply
- it to my life? Some Surahs may include stories, lessons, or
- direct guidance. Take time to ponder their significance.

Journal Your Reflections

- Write down verses that stand out to you, questions that arise, or lessons you've learned. This helps deepen your connection to the Quran. As you read and reread the Quran, you will deepen
- your understanding and comprehend concepts that you may have missed previously. If you journal, you can document and visualize your growth and learning.

Be Patient with yourself

It's okay to go slowly!

Don't rush to finish the Quran. It's part of your spiritual journey. Some days may feel harder than others—persist and remember the reward: "For every letter you recite from the Quran, you will be rewarded tenfold." (Tirmidhi).

Set Realistic Goals

Daily Reading: Commit to reading a small portion on a regular basis, even if it's just a few verses. Consistency is key.

Divide the Quran: Use the Juz' (30-part division) to pace yourself. Reading one Juz' a day completes the Quran in a month. This is particularly rewarding during the month of Ramadan. You can make a goal to read one Juz' at Sehri every morning.

Focus on Quality, Not Quantity: Understanding one verse deeply is better than rushing through a chapter. It's not a race! Take the time to read, and reflect on each Surah.

The Quran and Ramadan

20

Revelation of the Quran

The Quran was first revealed during Ramadan:

- "The month of Ramadan [is that] in which was revealed the Quran, a guidance for mankind and clear proofs of guidance and the criterion [between right and wrong]." (Surah Al-Baqarah, 2:185)

Laylatul Qadr and the Quran

Laylatul Qadr, celebrated during the last ten nights of Ramadan, is when the Quran was first revealed.

- Allah (SWT) describes its blessings: "Indeed, We sent it [the Quran] down during the Night of Decree. And what can make you know what is the Night of Decree? The Night of Decree is better than a thousand months." (Surah Al-Qadr, 97:1-3)
 - Muslims increase their recitation and prayer during these nights, seeking forgiveness and rewards.

Increased Quran Recitation

Ramadan is a perfect time to reinforce and deepen our understanding of the teachings of the Quran

- Taraweeh prayers: Special nightly prayers during Ramadan where long portions of the Quran are recited.
 - Many Muslims aim to complete the entire Quran during Ramadan by dividing it into daily portions (1 Juz' per day).

Quranic Guidance in Ramadan

Ramadan emphasizes the role of the Quran as a guide and a criterion for life.

- Muslims focus on reciting, understanding, and reflecting on its verses to strengthen their connection with Allah (SWT).

The Quran and Eid

The Quran has a strong connection to the celebration of Eid, particularly Eid al-Fitr, as it marks the completion of Ramadan. Eid is a day of gratitude, joy, and worship, and the Quran provides guidance on the principles that underlie its significance.

Quran and Eid al-Fitr

Eid al-Fitr occurs at the end of Ramadan, celebrating the spiritual renewal gained through fasting, prayer, and reflection on the Quran.

- The Quran emphasizes gratitude and glorifying Allah (SWT) after fulfilling the duty of fasting: "...that you may complete the period and glorify Allah (SWT) for that [to] which He has guided you, and perhaps you will be grateful." (Surah Al-Baqarah, 2:185)
- It reminds Muslims to appreciate the guidance and mercy Allah (SWT) provides, especially through the Quran.

Quran and Eid al-Adha

Eid al-Adha, the second Islamic festival, is also deeply tied to the Quran.

- It commemorates Prophet Ibrahim (AS) and Prophet Ismail's (AS) story of sacrifice, as described in Surah As-Saffat (37:100-111).
- The Quran emphasizes the purpose of sacrifice: "It is neither their meat nor their blood that reaches Allah, but it is piety from you that reaches Him..." (Surah Al-Hajj, 22:37)

Eid Prayer and Quran Recitation

On Eid morning, Muslims gather for a special communal Eid prayer, during which the Quran is recited.

- The sermon (khutbah) after the prayer often includes reflections on Quranic verses, reinforcing the themes of gratitude, unity, and righteousness.

How to incorporate the Quran on Eid

- Recite Takbeer: Praising Allah (SWT) with phrases like "Allahu Akbar, Allahu Akbar, La ilaha illa Allah, Allahu Akbar, wa Lillahi Al-Hamd" reflects Quranic encouragement to glorify Allah.
- Share with Others: Giving gifts, feeding the poor, and spreading happiness aligns with Quranic teachings on kindness and generosity.
- Reflect on Blessings: Eid provides an opportunity to reflect on Quranic verses about gratitude and mercy.

Emphasis on Knowledge

The Quran is deeply rooted in promoting knowledge, reflection, and critical thinking, inspiring intellectual growth in Islamic civilization and beyond.

Rhythmic Beauty The first revealed verses emphasize reading and seeking knowledge:

"Read in the name of your Lord who created—Created man from a clinging substance. Read, and your Lord is the most Generous—Who taught by the pen—Taught man that which he knew not." (Surah Al-'Alaq, 96:1-5)

Knowledge as a Path to Faith Understanding Allah's signs in the natural world and the Quran deepens faith:

"Indeed, in the creation of the heavens and the earth and the alternation of the night and the day are signs for those of understanding." (Surah Aal-E-Imran, 3:190)

The first word of the Quran revealed by Allah (SWT) was "Iqra" (Read). This emphasizes the importance that Islam places on the role of education and knowledge in the life of a Muslim.
